NATIONAL SEMINAR

(Sponsored by ICSSR in Collaboration with IEA)

ON

Kautilya's Arthshastra

&

Its Relevance in Present Scenario

Date : 16th & 17th Feb. 2019

Organized by :

P. G. DEPARTMENT OF ECONOMICS

D.S. College, Aligarh - 202 001

Dear Sir/Madam,

The department of Economics, D.S. College, Aligarh is a department of graduate, post graduate and research studies. It gives us immense pleasure to announce that we are organising a National seminar sponsored by ICSSR on KAUTILYA'S ARTHASHASTRA and its applicability in the present scenario on 16th and 17th Feb. 2019, in the department of Economics, D.S. College, Aligarh. The department of Economics, D.S. College, Aligarh encourages research in every field which opens new avenues of progression and development.

The present seminar on KAUTILYA'S ARTHASHASTRA is a promise to dive deep into the ancient Indian Academic climate and glory of ancient Indian academia and amalgamating it with the present scenario. The seminar is proposed with a vision of a very prominent objective- ARTHASHASTRA, as the title goes, refers to the second of the four PURUSHARTHAS- Dharma, Artha, Karma, Moksha. KAUTILYA'S ARTHASHASTRA is more than a book on a particular subject and rather a branch of learning that draws the boundaries of economics and further combines political science, sociology, ethics, culture, morality, laws and rules along with contemporary values of life within the ambit of Economics. The purpose of the present seminar is, therefore, interdisciplinary and multifaceted. It is significant to underline that this branch of learning has its applicability in the present scenario where complete knowledge is being sacrificed in the name of specialisation.

The present seminar floats on the following objectives:

- To bring to surface, the values of life as have been propounded in KAUTILYA'S ARTHASHASTRA.
- To discover and explore the parallels between administrative, macroeconomic and management systems in the Mauryan period, vis-a-vis, their counter parts in modern times.
- To throw light upon the treasure trove of knowledge that existed centuries ago in ancient India. Kautilya also known as Chanakya was one of the great thinkers of Ancient India. He made history in political, economic, legal and cultural scenarios of ancient India by making his disciple Chandragupta, the king whose empire was the biggest of the continent has ever witnessed. ARTHASHASTRA as a work, has been around for 2500 years while the origins of economics is widely accepted with the publication of "Wealth of Nations" in the late 18th century.
- The seminar has a wide range of themes that cover the various aspects of KAUTILYA'S ARTHASHASTRA and its applicability in modern scenarios of various academic endeavours. The seminar will have the following sub-themes:
 - The ethical thought of KAUTILYA'S ARTHASHASTRA
 - The philosophical thought of KAUTILYA'S ARTHASHASTRA
 - KAUTILYA'S DANDANITI
 - The economic thought of KAUTILYA'S VARTHA
 - The social thought of KAUTILYA'S ARTHASHASTRA

And their applicability in the present scenario.
